

Bremen Airport - valued for its good location and short distances

As a Hanseatic city with global players, the airport is of particular significance for Bremen. 15 different national and international airlines land and take off from here. More than 2.5 million passengers use Bremen Airport every year. And the trend is upward. There are numerous direct connections per week to European hubs such as Frankfurt, Zurich, Munich, Amsterdam, Paris or Istanbul. From there, destinations all over the world can be reached. In addition, low-cost airlines such as Ryanair and Wizz Air fly directly to 25 European destinations. All in all, Bremen Airport offers business travellers and holidaymakers alike good connections to around 50 destinations in Europe and North Africa.

In the airport lounge, travellers can prepare for their journey in a welcoming atmosphere. If you are on business, workspaces and free WIFI allow you to process your mails before departure. Passenger monitors provide information on the current status of the departure at all times.

Passengers value Bremen Airport for its central location, its easy accessibility by public transport and its short distances. No other international airport in Germany is closer to the city centre than Bremen. It only takes eleven minutes to reach the airport by tram from Bremen city centre. The airport has more than 4,500 parking spaces available for motorists close to the terminal. Further information on www.airport-bremen.de
